Course Name	Inclusive education: policy, planning and pedagogy
Credit Points	6 units of credit (uoc)
Workload	Includes 150 hours including class contact hours, readings, class preparation, assessment, follow up activities, etc.
Schedule	11, 12, 14, 15 January 2016 9.00am – 4.00pm Morven Brown G3

Summary of Course

This course will provide an overview of inclusion principles, policies and philosophies underpinning inclusion. A variety of models of schooling for students with a disability will be discussed, as well as approaches to teaching these students in mainstream schools' setting. The focus will be on effective teaching practice, adapting curriculum, and resources to support inclusion. The role of teachers in successful inclusion will be highlighted.

The main ways in which the course has changed since last time as a result of student feedback are:

- More instruction and modelling on how to talk respectfully about disability, how to deal with people who disagree with your methods
- How to keep abreast of changes in disability research
- Include a more diverse, international perspective on inclusive education

Aims of the Course

This course aims to:

Provide teachers with the theoretical knowledge about inclusive education and its principles.

Provide teachers with practical tools to assist in designing educational context that value and celebrate diversity.

Important Information

Assessment: Students must pass ALL assignments in order to pass the course. Only by passing all assignments can the Graduate Attributes be achieved.

Attendance: Students are expected to give priority to university study commitments. Unless specific and formal permission has been granted, failure to attend 80% of classes in a course may result in failure.

4. RATIONALE FOR THE INCLUSION OF CONTENT AND TEACHING APPROACH

Today's classrooms present a diversity of students, including students who are gifted and those who have learning difficulties and disabilities. Thus, teachers must accommodate for diverse needs in their classrooms. This course aims to provide not just an overview of inclusion principles and policies, but will also provide students with the knowledge of how to make relevant curriculum adjustments and adaptations, along with a range of teaching strategies to facilitate students' access to the general education curriculum.

5. TEACHING STRATEGIES

- explicit teaching including intensive day-long seminars using a range of teaching strategies to foster interest and support learning;
- structured occasions for reflection on learning to allow students to reflect critically on issues discussed;
- extensive opportunities for small group work, dialogue and discussion, allowing students the opportunity to demonstrate their capacity to communicate, to question and to problem solve
- online modules to permit flexible delivery

These activities will occur in a climate that is supportive and inclusive of all learners.

Assessment Details

As final grades must be submitted by February 5th, all assessment tasks must be completed at least 2 weeks ahead of this date to permit grading.

Assessment 1: Narrative. Briefly recount the inclusion of a student with a disability to a mainstream school where you currently teach/have taught or attended as a fellow student (for those who have not yet begun to teach). What supports were in place to aid the successful inclusion of this student into the mainstream environment, and were they successful? What impediments existed or arose that hampered the successful inclusion of this student? Your response should make reference to and be informed by the prescribed readings for Day 1 of this course.

Note: Late enrolments will complete an alternate task. Contact Sue for details.

Assessment 2: Essay.

Students with diverse learning needs in inclusive classrooms require teachers to employ evidence-based teaching methods to ensure the required content is effectively delivered and received by all students. Using recently published literature on evidence-based inclusive teaching strategies/practices, write an essay where you describe five (5) different evidence-based teaching strategies (see list in Moodle) that you believe suit a teaching specialization/subject area you are familiar with.

Your response must provide a rationale for the strategies you choose to include (show how they support learners in your subject area). Your essay must attend to one strategy at a time when structuring your response. Students are encouraged to refer to the UNSW essay how to guide when developing their response.

Assessment 3: Adapted Unit of Work. Students will develop an adapted mini-unit of work (4 sequenced lessons) in one subject area (of your choice) for the class described in the scenario (see Moodle Assessment 3 folder) using the principles and guidelines of Universal Design for Learning and the new Australian Curriculum documents (if available for your subject area). Assessment methods must be included for each lesson outcome. Please see Moodle Assessment 3 folder for more information.
