Summary of Course

There will be lectures and independent study in this course. We will meet in the two regular Monday classes (dates: 16 and 23 of September), which will consist of lectures and presentations. Classes during the 3-day intensive sessions (dates: 1, 3, and 4 of October) are designed, mainly for students to conduct independent study with the instructor, and peer-sharing and peer-teaching. The class will meet again in the regular Monday class time to wrap up the course (dates: 14 and 21 of October).

The course content is broadly defined as examination of the principles of human growth and development and how these principles interact with the educational process, including a study of individual differences and the manner in which these differences relate to education. Analysis of learning and how learning principles can be translated into educational practice is also discussed. Topics for students to explore include human development of: self-perception (self-beliefs, self-concept, and self-efficacy), attitudes, personality, test anxiety, intrinsic motivation, attributions of success and failure, interest, cooperation among students, fear of failure, feelings of helplessness, lack of confidence, continuing motivation, intrinsic and extrinsic motivation, attitudes towards school, attitudes towards learning and cognitive development, psychosocial development, social-emotional development, and moral development.

Aims of the Course

This course explores and examines a range of topics under human development, education, and individual differences.

- Students explore and examine current perspectives in different aspects of growth and development.
- Students develop a sense of the interdependency of all aspects of development.
- Students learn to appreciate the interrelatedness of theory, research, and applications.
- Students are familiar with theories of human development in learning.

Important Information

Attendance: Students are expected to give priority to university study commitments. Unless specific and formal permission has been granted, failure to attend 80% of classes in a course may result in failure. See the section on attendance for details on guidelines, procedures and penalties in Part B of this document.

4. RATIONALE FOR THE INCLUSION OF CONTENT AND TEACHING APPROACH

This course will enable students to form his/her own sense of developmental phenomena and their relations to educational and learning outcomes. This will help them become effective practitioners within schools as well as within the context of the family and community. The course reflects a view that an understanding of developmental and learning processes offers guidelines for effective educational practice.

5. TEACHING STRATEGIES

Teaching strategies of this course incorporate self-reflection, self-regulated learning, peer-coaching, cooperative-learning, and connecting theories into practice. It also aims to adopt a contextualized, student-centered approach. Topics under Human Development and Education encompass all aspects of human life and behaviors. This course is designed to look at selected topics (that students chose for themselves) in-depth rather than hastily touching upon a broad range of (well-known but often very old) theories.
Students will choose an area/topic to study (they may pair up with one of your classmates as “study-buddy” to maximize their learning strategies). They will need to consult with the instructor about their chosen topic (instructor will evaluate the appropriateness and value of the topic). Students will further narrow down their research topic by formulating 2-3 research questions that they would like to explore. This activity will provide students the opportunity to develop a research skill and become familiar with the field.

Students will be doing a lot of readings and be given a great deal of feedback during this course. There will be reflection-sharing, peer-tutoring, group discussion, case studies, story-telling, and presentations all designed to foster interest, stimulate student thinking, and support each other’s learning. By doing so, students will be able to take the ownership of instructional planning. Instructional units will be designed that are unique to each individual student’s needs and research interest.

In sum, students in this course will choose a topic of their interest, research and read about 15 journal articles on the topic of their choice, formulate their research topic, conduct peer-teaching during the intensive week, and engage and demonstrate their critical thinking skills in writing.

Assessment Details

Assessment 1: Self-reflection & Planning

EDST5306: Human Development & Education, UNSW 2014
Choose an area/topic that you want to learn more about. Write a piece of self-reflection (500 words) on:

- Which aspects of human development interest you (and why)?
- Write the topic/area you would like to study in this course
- Which age-group would you like to explore?
- Why is learning about this topic important to this area of study?
- Why is learning about this topic important to you?
- How useful will it be to learn about this topic for your future study or work?
- How will this study have personal meanings to you as a teacher?

Assessment 2: Findings from Literature Review, Analysis & Write Critical Review

Based on your readings (at least 10 journal articles), describe what you learn as research findings on the topic of your choice.

- Provide a “brief” summary of a body of literature that provides some insights on the developmental aspects of the topic of your research topic
- Pose a set of research questions: about 2-3 research questions that you would like to explore answer.
- Write a critical review to answer the questions that you posed. At least one question should have some developmental aspect (e.g., At around what age does one’s academic interest stabilize as personal characteristics?).
- If you happen to develop a set of questions that have been hardly explored – that is also good! Then, provide some literature evidence suggesting the direction for plausible findings. (i.e., what is missing in the literature that you think as important; and if research was conducted, what you expected to find).

In either case, write a critical literature review, which should contain some types of solutions, strategies, answers, or directions to the questions that you posed. For this final assessment, you should try to find some tentative answers. If there is currently no information/research done on your topic, you should look for research and theories of closely-related constructs, which will allow some predictions regarding the potential developmental trajectories of your selected topic.

GENERAL COMMENTS/RECOMMENDATIONS FOR NEXT TIME

Lecturer

Recommended: /20 (FL PS CR DN HD)

Weighting: %

NB: The ticks in the various boxes are designed to provide feedback to students; they are not given equal weight in determining the recommended grade. Depending on the nature of the assessment task, lecturers may also contextualize and/or amend these specific criteria. The recommended grade is tentative only, subject to standardisation processes and approval by the School of Education Learning and Teaching Committee.
Submission of Assessment Tasks

Students should submit both a hard copy and an electronic copy of an assessment task.

Hard copies of an assessment task are to be placed in the Course Lecturer’s locked assignment box near the School of Education office (Level 1, Goodsell Building).

Electronic copies of an assessment task are to be submitted to the allocated Turnitin Submission Box online via Moodle.

STUDENTS MUST SUBMIT THE HARD AND ELECTRONIC COPY OF AN ASSESSMENT TASK BY 5PM ON THE DUE DATE UNLESS THE COURSE LECTURER HAS ADVISED OTHERWISE.

You are strongly advised to aim to submit early, as submissions received one minute after the specified due time will be stamped as late and will incur a late penalty. The FASS late penalty is 3% of the total possible marks for the task for each day or part day that the work is late. Lateness includes weekends and public holidays.

You are responsible for checking that the hard and electronic copy of an assessment task submission is the same, is complete and accurate and, comply with the Course lecturer’s instructions given in the previous section on Assessment Details.

Students are required to keep a copy of all assessment tasks. If an assessment is mislaid the student is responsible for providing a further copy.

All assignments (hard copy and electronic submission) must be submitted with a signed Assessment Cover Sheet (required for all assignments). Please ensure that you read and complete the Assessment Cover Sheet carefully, particularly the section related to the originality of the submission.

Assessment Cover Sheets are available from the front counter in the School Office or can be downloaded from: https://education.arts.unsw.edu.au/students/resources/forms/

Return of Assessment Tasks

Assessments are normally returned in tutorials. For assessments with due dates from Week 10 onwards, you may request for feedback on the assessment to be returned by attaching a self-addressed postage-paid envelope to your assignment. If the postage is insufficient to cover the delivery of the assignment, it will not be posted. If a student does not wish to provide postage s/he may pick up her/his assessment from the School Office from 9am-5pm for two weeks following notification of marking completion by the Course Lecturer. If a student is unable to pick up her/his assessment within this time s/he should contact the Course Lecturer.

9. COURSE EVALUATION AND DEVELOPMENT

Student evaluative feedback on the course is gathered, using UNSW’s Course and Teaching Evaluation and Improvement (CATEI) Process. Student feedback is taken seriously, and continual improvements are made to the course based in part on such feedback.
PART B: GUIDELINES AND PROCEDURES

10. ACADEMIC HONESTY AND PLAGIARISM

Plagiarism at UNSW is using the words or ideas of others and passing them off as your own. Examples include:

- Copying: Using the same or very similar words to the original text or idea without acknowledging the source or using quotation marks.

- Inappropriate paraphrasing: Changing a few words and phrases while mostly retaining the original structure and information without acknowledgement. This also applies in presentations where someone paraphrases another’s ideas or words without credit.

- Collusion: Presenting work as independent work when it has been produced in whole or part in collusion with other people. Collusion includes students providing their work to another student before the due date, or for the purpose of them plagiarising at any time, paying another person to perform an academic task and passing it off as your own, stealing or acquiring another person’s academic work and copying it, offering to complete another person’s work or seeking payment for completing academic work.

- Inappropriate citation: Citing sources which have not been read, without acknowledging the ‘secondary’ source from which knowledge of them has been obtained.

- Self-plagiarism: ‘Self-plagiarism’ occurs where an author republishes their own previously written work and presents it as new findings without referencing the earlier work, either in its entirety or partially. Self-plagiarism is also referred to as ‘recycling’, ‘duplication’, or ‘multiple submissions of research findings’ without disclosure. In the student context, self-plagiarism includes re-using parts of, or all of, a body of work that has already been submitted for assessment without proper citation.

(NB: Examples of plagiarism: https://my.unsw.edu.au/student/atoz/Plagiarism.html

UNSW distinguishes between 3 levels of plagiarism.

- Level 1: Minor plagiarism where inexperience is a mitigating factor (e.g. first year, first semester UG/PG students).
- Level 2: Applies to more senior students and first year students from their second semester of study onwards; a second Level 1 type lack of scholarly achievement is automatically treated as a Level 2 offence.
- Level 3: This category includes egregious acts of plagiarism, and where the breach is considered to be deliberate, reckless, and/or involves gross and persistent negligence.

All suspected cases of plagiarism in the School of Education are dealt with by the Deputy Head of School (Teaching & Learning). When plagiarism has been identified and confirmed through proper investigation the outcomes include:

Educative Action

- All students will undertake some form of educative action either managed by the School or the Learning Centre except where exclusion is the penalty for plagiarism.

Penalties

- All students will have a penalty imposed. The degree of penalty will be appropriate to the degree of plagiarism. For students who have committed Level 1 plagiarism it may be that their mark reflects the lack of scholarly achievement, to a maximum deduction of 20 marks per 100 pro rata. For Level 2 it might be a 0% for the work or the course. For Level 3 Plagiarism it may be 0% for the course or even suspension from UNSW.
Registers

- All students are placed on a Register whether it is the Level 1 Plagiarism Register or the Student Misconduct Register for Levels 2 or 3.

In the interests of maintaining high standards in scholarship and research, the University reminds students that when they are writing essays, theses, and assessment items of any nature they are ethically bound to refrain from plagiarism in all forms. Students are advised to inform themselves about University policies and practices concerning assessment and Academic Misconduct (including plagiarism). Wherever possible, students should also take up those opportunities provided to them by the University to improve their academic and/or information literacy. Further information on plagiarism and academic honesty can be downloaded from: https://student.unsw.edu.au/plagiarism In addition, UNSW has produced a booklet to assist students with essential information for avoiding plagiarism which can be downloaded from https://my.unsw.edu.au/student/academiclife/Plagiarism.pdf

At UNSW, plagiarism is considered to be a form of academic misconduct and is viewed very seriously. UNSW is committed to helping students understand the conventions which govern academic communication to assist them avoid action which may result in academic misconduct. Further information on the Student Misconduct Rules is available at: https://student.unsw.edu.au/conduct Cheating: It is a serious offence to submit any work that is copied from the work of another student whether that work was submitted in the current year, previously or in another course. In such cases, both students may be penalised. Similarly it is an offence to cheat at examinations, get other students to write your assignments, etc. If you have been working in close cooperation with another student undertaking (say) research for an assignment, you should discuss the nature of that cooperation with the Course Convenor to ensure that no misunderstandings arise about the originality of your work, and to identify clearly your own contribution to the work. Where group assessments are produced your lecturer needs to be aware of each person’s contribution.

Cheating and plagiarism may attract serious penalties, ranging from failure in the course to failure in all courses and exclusion from the university for a specific period (See also Misconduct).

Misconduct: Academic misconduct is a serious matter. In the first instance cases of misconduct are dealt with by the Head of School but it may be necessary to refer them to the Dean or the University Disciplinary Committee. For detail please go to: https://student.unsw.edu.au/conduct Proof reading: Proof-read your assignment before submission, as avoidable errors are likely to result in marks being deducted.

Email: Unless the lecturer expressly gives permission, students are not permitted to submit assessment via email.

Non-sexist language: It is UNSW policy to avoid sexist language. You should use words which include both sexes when you are referring to both sexes; e.g. S/he’, ‘she or he, ‘people’, etc.

11. ATTENDANCE

Unless specific and formal permission has been granted, failure to attend 80% of classes (henceforth ‘classes’ include lectures, tutorials, seminars, online activities and so on) in a course may result in failure in that course. Explanation of absences, or requests for permission to be absent from forthcoming classes, should be addressed to the lecturers/tutors responsible for those classes. Explanation of an absence of more than one week should also be addressed in writing and, where applicable, should be accompanied by a medical certificate.

If you attend less than 80% of classes or have not submitted appropriate supporting documentation to the Course Convenor to explain your absence, you may be awarded a final grade of UF (Unsatisfactory Fail).

If you arrive more than 15 minutes late, you may be recorded as absent. If such a penalty is imposed, you will be informed verbally at the end of class and advised in writing within 24 hours.

Students are expected to give priority to their university study commitments. Any absence from assessable activities, including formal end of semester examinations, must be clearly for extenuating circumstances only that were unexpected and beyond the control of the student. Work commitments are not considered a justification. Please refer to Special Consideration for further information.

Upon submission of appropriate evidence, the Course Convenor has discretion and authority to determine whether a student meets the required volume of learning and has completed the necessary assessments for a given course in circumstances where attendance has been less than the normal university requirement of 80% of classes.

A student may be excused from classes for up to one month (66% of learning and teaching activities) in exceptional circumstances and on production of an original or certified copy of a medical certificate or other form of appropriate evidence. In such cases, the Course Convenor may assign additional and/or alternative tasks to ensure that students have met the volume of leaning associated with the course.

A student who has submitted the appropriate documentation but attends less than 66% of classes will be asked by the Course Convenor to apply to discontinue the course without failure rather than be awarded a final grade of UF.

UNSW policy on attendance https://myunsw.edu.au/student/atoz/AttendanceAbsence.html

Permission to Participate in Lectures Online

The School of Education allows participation in lectures online on a case by case basis and only in certain circumstances:

a. The student is able to prove that they have no other option but to clash.
b. The clash can only be between lectures or between a lecture and a tutorial or seminar. Only the lecture can be missed.
c. Where the clash is between two lectures it is recommended that the student alternate attendance.
d. The clash can be for not more than one hour.
e. The missed lecture cannot be the first hour of a two hour lecture.
f. The student must be able to access, at minimum, a sound recording of the missed lecture either through Echo 360 or independent recording. The Course Convenor can reserve the right to refuse to allow the lectures in their course to be recorded independently.
g. The Course Convenor(s) must give their approval for the permitted clash.
h. A permitted clash will not be granted when the Clash is the result of over-enrolment.
i. Permissible clashes are not available to students in their first semester of study at University.

A student who is approved permission to participate in online lectures must fulfil the following requirements:

a. The student must provide the Course Convenor with copies of lecture notes and/or reading notes from those lectures missed on a regular basis as agreed by the Course Convenor and the student.
b. If a student does indeed attend a lecture for which they had secured a permitted clash they will still submit lecture notes and/or reading notes as evidence of attendance.
c. Failure to meet these requirements is regarded as unsatisfactory performance in the course and a failure to meet the Faculty’s course attendance requirement. Accordingly, Course Convenors will fail students who do not meet this performance/attendance requirement.
d. Students must attend the clashed lecture on a specific date if that lecture contains an assessment task for the course such as a quiz or test. Inability to meet this requirement would be grounds for a Course Convenor refusing the application. If the student misses the said lecture there is no obligation on the Course Convenor to schedule a make-up quiz or test and the student can receive zero for the assessment task. It should be noted that in many courses a failure to complete an assessment task can be grounds for course failure.

Applications for permission to participate in lectures on line should be lodged at: https://www.arts.unsw.edu.au/ttclash/index.php
12. SUBMISSION OF ASSESSMENT

All assignments must be submitted online with an assignment coversheet before midnight on the due date via Moodle to avoid penalty. Students should also hand in a hard copy and retain a hard copy of work submitted. Students are required to keep all drafts, original data and other evidence of the authenticity of the work for at least one year after examination. If an assessment is mislaid the student is responsible for providing a further copy.

Students are required to follow their course lecturer's instructions exactly when submitting hard copies of work for assessment. Some work is submitted in class but most hard copies of assessments are to be delivered to the locked boxes in the reception area of the School. Students are advised to put the assessment task into the box with the course lecturer's name on it and it must include a signed Assignment Cover Sheet.

You are responsible for checking that the hard and electronic copy of an assessment task submission is the same, is complete and accurate and, comply with the Course lecturer's instructions given in the previous section on Assessment Details.

Professional staff are not permitted to accept student work submitted for assessment. Students are advised to never leave their submissions for assessment under doors.

Return of Assessment
Timing: Assessment tasks will normally be returned to students in class within three weeks of submission where possible. Where this is not possible, the course lecturer will provide advice with regard to assessment task collection.

Feedback: The School of Education standard marking and feedback template (see next page) aligned with assessment criteria and grade descriptors used in marking and contextualized to suit each specific assessment task will be used to provide written feedback on assessment tasks.

Extensions and late submission of work
It is expected that all assignment deadlines will be met. In very exceptional cases, extensions may be granted, students should contact the Course Convenor five days prior to the due date of the assignment to discuss their situation. If it is then necessary for students to request Special Consideration an application must be lodged online through myunsw at https://iaro.online.unsw.edu.au/special_consideration/home.login. The request must be made within three working days of the assessment to which it refers and be accompanied by supporting documentation (e.g., medical certificates). More details on Special Consideration are below.

Work submitted late (i.e., past the time and date specified in the course outline) will incur late penalties. The late penalty is the loss of 3% of the total possible marks for the task for each day or part thereof the work is late. Lateness will include weekends and public holidays.

Work submitted fourteen days after the due date may be marked and brief feedback provided but no mark will be recorded or counted towards your overall grade. If the work would have received a pass mark but for the lateness and the work is a compulsory course component, you will be deemed to have met that requirement.

Work submitted twenty one days after the due date will not be accepted for marking or feedback and will receive no mark or grade. If the assessment task is a compulsory component of the course you will automatically fail the course.

Where an extension has been granted, either directly by the Course Convenor or through the Special Consideration mechanism, the late penalties outlined above will apply from the revised due date.

Review of results
There is no automatic right to have an assessment reviewed; the School reserves the right to make such judgments.

If you have concerns about a mark you have achieved, you should raise this with the Course Convenor in the first instance. This should normally be done within two working days of the return of the assessed work.
If you are not satisfied with the explanation provided, you should complete the UNSW Review of Results (RoR) application form:

You must provide a written explanation of why you believe the work requires review. The written explanation must include the stated criteria for the assessment task indicating the exact area(s) where the assessment of your work differs from the mark you have received.

The Course Convenor has the option to not recommend review if they deem the grounds for review insufficient. The Course Convenor will make their decision within three working days of receiving the request.

If the Course Convenor approves the review, you should submit the Review of Results application form to Student Central. A clean copy and a copy of the marked work with all feedback must be submitted with the RoR application. An administration fee applies under certain circumstances.

If the Course Convenor does not recommend the review but you believe that the mark/grade does not reflect your performance, you may forward the RoR application form to the Deputy Head of School (Learning & Teaching), Dr. Therese Cumming (t.cumming@unsw.edu.au).

The Deputy Head of School (DHoS) will normally make a decision within three working days of receiving the application.

If the DHoS approves the review, you should submit the application to Student Central. A clean copy and a copy of the marked work with all feedback must be submitted with the RoR application. An administration fee applies under certain circumstances.

If the DHoS does not approve the review, she will notify the Chair of the Faculty Assessment Review Group (FARG). The FARG can either endorse or overturn the decision of the DHoS.

The FARG will make a decision within one week of receiving advice from the DHoS. If, after the FARG’s decision, the student still believes they have a case they should submit their claim through the University grievance procedures.

A RoR application must be lodged within 15 working days of receiving the result of the assessment task.

13. SPECIAL CONSIDERATION

On some occasions, illness, misadventure, or other circumstances beyond the immediate control of a student may prevent his/her attendance at an examination, or may significantly affect their performance in an assessment. Students who believe that their performance in a course, either during the semester or in an examination, has been adversely affected by illness or any other reason should submit a request for Special Consideration. Applications for Special Consideration are lodged online (https://iaro.online.unsw.edu.au/special_consideration/home.login) and must be made within three working days of the assessment to which it refers to. For more information regarding Special Consideration please visit: https://my.unsw.edu.au/student/atoz/SpecialConsideration.html

14. ASSESSMENT PRINCIPLES AND PROCEDURES

The primary aim of university assessment is to support student learning, hence there should be a clear and explicit relationship between stated assessment tasks and expectations, course objectives and course content. Assessment tasks are carefully designed to:

- Recognise, motivate and encourage deep learning
- Incorporate a clear developmental perspective which recognises and supports students’ growing competence over the course of the program (i.e. assessment tasks set earlier in the course of study are likely to be different in focus from those given later in the course).

Variation in assessment tasks within and across the School is encouraged in order to maintain student interest, to cater for and stimulate different ways of student thinking and learning, to reflect the different academic and professional demands of different courses as well as to foster student development and progression over the length of a program. Such variations also provide a good model of assessment for teachers and future teachers enrolled in the school's programs.

In the School of Education all potential failure are double-marked as are all suspected plagiarism cases. All staff are also required to undertake small-group standardisation of a representative sample of assignments (Grades HD, D, C, P) with staff teaching in similar areas (e.g. as part of specialisation or course-level activities) at least once each semester before the submission of results. Grade distributions for each class are also closely monitored and evaluated.

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Grade</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>High Distinction (85% and above)</td>
<td>The assignment is of exceptional quality. It not only reveals an excellent understanding of the question or issue under consideration, but also demonstrates highly informed analytical and evaluative thinking. The writer displays a substantial familiarity with the research literature relating to the issues discussed and relates his or her arguments strongly to the findings of this literature. The assignment is also very well-organised and very well-written.</td>

15. OTHER INFORMATION

University Counselling Service

The Counselling Service offers free and confidential counselling to students of the University. The Service provides assessment and short-term counselling for students. Students use the Counselling Service...
Service for a wide variety of reasons, ranging from issues relating specifically to their studies through to more personal concerns or difficulties.

When students start at University, they may encounter a variety of issues which can cause them concern: academic or administrative problems, study difficulties, transition from school, work or home to University. In addition, students may have personal difficulties such as relationship or family problems, anxiety, depression, or stress. Sometimes students are unsure whether a counsellor is the most appropriate person to seek about their situation. In this instance, it is often worth making an appointment talking to a counsellor as they usually find the most appropriate source of help.

Location: Second Floor, East Wing, Quadrangle Building
Hours: Monday-Friday 9am-5pm

Equity and Diversity

Those students who have a disability that requires some adjustment in their teaching or learning environment are encouraged to discuss their study needs with the Course Convenor prior to, or at the commencement of their course.

Students are also encouraged to contact the Equity Officer (Disability) in the Equity and Diversity Unit. Issues to be discussed may include access to materials, signers or note-takers, the provision of services and additional exam and assessment arrangements. Early notification is essential to enable any necessary adjustments to be made.
