Summary of Course

This course will introduce students to contemporary debates in foreign and second language education both in Australia and internationally, and examine these from a range of perspectives. Students will learn about key pedagogical issues by drawing on the latest research findings. Particular attention will be given to learner contributions to language learning, including the examination of critical aspects of individual learner differences from a sociocultural and psychological perspective. Other areas include identity of the language teacher in native and non-native language settings; a critical analysis of various language teaching methodologies in changing local and global contexts; and the politics and pedagogical implications of English as a lingua franca.

The main ways in which the course has changed since last time as a result of student feedback

- Major changes to topics covered and reading list: course content revised and readings updated, with new topics (e.g. plurilingualism) added and less useful/popular ones (e.g. CLIL) dropped.

Attendance: Students are expected to give priority to university study commitments. THIS INCLUDES DOING THE SET READINGS FOR EACH CLASS. Unless specific and formal permission has been granted, failure to attend 80% of classes in a course may result in failure.

Student Learning Outcomes

Outcome		Assessment/s
1	Articulate how research can inform teaching practice and consider the implications for language education in various learning contexts.	1, 2
2	Assess the theoretical principles and pedagogical rationale underpinning various approaches to language learning.	1, 2
3	Evaluate how teacher identity and personal attributes affect teaching practice.	1, 2
4	Evaluate the impact of learner contributions to language learning.	1, 2

Program Learning Outcomes

Capability		Assessment/s
1	Advanced disciplinary knowledge and practices Demonstrate an advanced understanding of the field of language education as it relates to their specialist area of study, and the ability to synthesize and apply disciplinary principles and practices to new or complex environments.	1, 2
2	Research-based learning Demonstrate an in-depth understanding of research-based learning and the ability to plan, analyse, present implement and evaluate complex activities that contribute to advanced professional practice and/or intellectual scholarship in education.	1, 2
3	Cognitive skills and critical thinking Demonstrate advanced critical thinking and problem solving skills	1, 2
4	Communication, adaptive and interactional skills Communicate effectively to a range of audiences, and be capable of independent and collaborative enquiry and team-based leadership	1, 2
5	International outlook Demonstrate an understanding of international perspectives relevant to the educational field	1, 2
6	Ethical and responsible professional practice Demonstrate an advanced capacity to recognise and negotiate the complex and often contested values and ethical practices that underlie education	1, 2

4. RATIONALE FOR THE INCLUSION OF CONTENT AND TEACHING APPROACH

Language teaching came into its own as a profession in the 20th century, and is currently experiencing an exponential rise globally. Its foundation has been characterized by frequent change and innovation and the development of sometimes competing ideas, including those related to the learner, the teacher, the pedagogy and the context. The importance of understanding these is critical for effective classroom practice in the context of language education. The course will provide students with information on the most recent developments in research related to learners' and teachers' contributions to language learning, as well as explore the impact and suitability of various language teaching approaches. The course will also examine the local and global language teaching contexts, particularly in terms of the changing nature and status of English language, and the native/non-native speaker dichotomy.

5. TEACHING STRATEGIES

Teaching strategies include face-to-face sessions with opportunities to collaborate with peers in small group and plenary discussions, analyse ideas and issues, and reflect on participants' own teaching in light of new information. The course also utilizes Moodle – an online learning environment where students can access information and course readings, and submit assignments. Student learning will also be focused through an engagement with readings and the writing of a critical reflection as well as a discussion essay, and completing a series of in-class tasks.

7. ASSESSMENT

Assessment Task	Length	Weight	Student Learning Outcomes Assessed	Program Learning Outcomes Assessed	Due Date
Critical reflections on selected readings	2000 words	40%	1,2,3,4	1,2,3,4,5,6	5pm on Monday 27 March
Discussion Essay	4000 words	60%	1,2,3,4	1,2,3,4,5,6	5pm on Monday 29 May

Students are required to follow their lecturer's instructions when submitting their work for assessment. All assessment will be submitted online via Moodle by 5pm. Student no longer need to use a cover sheet. Students are also required to keep all drafts, original data and other evidence of the authenticity of the work for at least one year after examination. If an assessment is mislaid the student is responsible for providing a further copy. Please see the Student Policies and Procedures for information regarding submission, extensions, special consideration, late penalties and hurdle requirements etc. <https://education.arts.unsw.edu.au/students/courses/course-outlines/>

Assignment 1: Critical reflections on selected readings.
(Weighting 40%; word limit: 2000.)

This task requires you to select two related readings from your weekly reading list (the core readings rather than the additional readings). Answer critically the following questions for each of your chosen articles (use these as headings in your writing):

1. How does the writer position him/herself in relation to theory and practice? What is his/her position on the subject?
2. Explain how the text has broadened your thinking in the area.
3. Quote and comment on what you regard as the most important section/quote from the reading and explain why it was significant to you in your teaching context and/or in your professional practice.
4. Conclude with 2-3 questions you may still have in relation to the topic (but do not answer them).

This assessment task needs to be posted on Moodle by 5:00pm on the due date.

Assignment 2: Discussion Essay.
(Weighting 60%; word count: 4000.)

In Holliday's (2005) article 'How is it possible to write?', the author discusses how his own personal narrative, experiences, and positioning affect his understanding of the language teaching issues on which he writes and researches. For assignment two, you are asked to engage in a similarly reflexive process, integrating the reading and thinking you have done on this course into a discussion on your own teaching and your position-taking on the issues.

Choose TWO issues covered in the course (e.g. non-native speaker teachers and the teaching of culture, or teacher education and textbooks, or methodology and socio-cultural context – these are just examples – you can integrate any two issues from the course). The issues should be linked.

Please do not recycle material from Assignment 1. If you critiqued articles on Topic X in Assignment 1, please choose Topic Y & Z in assignment 2.

Discuss and synthesise the two issues with reference to the following guidance questions (these can be used as headings in your text, or you can structure your text in any other way you choose):

1. Briefly explain your understanding of the two issues and explain how they are connected.
2. How does each issue relate to your teaching context (or one with which you are familiar)? What contribution do scholars writing on the issue make to language education in the context?
3. What is your position on the two issues? How do your own personal narrative and teaching/learning experiences affect your views on each issue?
4. How have your views or awareness changed as a result of learning about these issues? How will this impact your professional practice?

This assessment task needs to be posted on Moodle by 5:00pm on the due date.
