Summary of Course

This course is designed to increase a student's pedagogical and content knowledge for Legal Studies teaching. The key elements of pedagogy and Legal Studies content knowledge are examined and developed. Students will critically address how these elements can then be combined into effective classroom practice to address the requirements and philosophy of the NSW Legal Studies syllabus.

Aims of the Course

This course aims to:

- Increase a student's pedagogical and content knowledge for Legal Studies.
- Develop a student's understanding of what comprises effective classroom practice.

The main ways in which the course has changed since last time as a result of student feedback:

More opportunities to examine sample lesson plans and more opportunities for peer feedback on student lesson plans.

Important information

- Assessment: Please note that all students must pass all assignments to pass the course, and they must pass the course to go on placement for PE 1.
- Attendance: Students are expected to give priority to university study commitments. Unless specific and formal permission has been granted, attendance at less than 80% of classes in a course may result in failure.

4. RATIONALE FOR THE INCLUSION OF CONTENT AND TEACHING APPROACH

This subject aims to develop in each student the ability to effectively teach Legal Studies to secondary school students. Lectures, tutorials and assignments cover a variety of approaches to teaching and learning in the Stage 6 Legal Studies classroom. During the course students will develop their knowledge of New South Wales syllabus documents. Emphasis will be placed on the relationship between Legal Studies and literacy and numeracy, and on the role and value of legal knowledge, skills and understanding in the curriculum and the community.

Student-centred activities form the basis of the course. These activities draw on the prior knowledge of the students and allow them to engage in relevant and challenging experiences that mirror those they will be expected to design for the secondary students they will teach.

5. TEACHING STRATEGIES

- Explicit teaching, including lectures, to demonstrate the use of a range of teaching strategies to foster interest and support learning.
- A range of individual and group independent learning activities, to enable students to develop an understanding of students' different approaches to learning.
- Small group cooperative learning to enable students to understand the importance of teamwork in an educational context and to demonstrate the use of group structures to address teaching and learning goals.
- Extensive opportunities for whole group and small group dialogue and discussion, allowing students the opportunity to demonstrate their capacity to communicate and liaise with the diverse members of an education community, and to demonstrate their knowledge and understanding of method content.
- Structured occasions for reflection on learning to allow students to reflect critically on and improve teaching practice.
- Peer teaching in a simulated classroom setting.

These activities will occur in a classroom climate that is supportive and inclusive of all learners.

HURDLE REQUIREMENT

Assessment I – Microteaching and Lesson Plans

Microteaching is the planning, presentation and evaluation of a lesson over a shortened period of time (a 10 minute mini-lesson). It is a critical aspect of method as it provides students with the opportunity to demonstrate key competencies that must be achieved before student teachers are permitted to undertake Professional Experience I, whilst observing other student teachers and engaging in peer review. It is recommended that students read widely on effective classroom strategies and practise aspects of their mini-lesson with a small group of peers prior to assessment.

The assessment process will consist of the following two components:

1. Two detailed lesson plans using the prescribed template, including a statement of expected learning outcomes
2. A 10 minute mini-lesson

Initial Lesson Plans: All students must submit to the method lecturer their proposed lesson plans by the end of Week 4. This will be returned prior to your microteaching with comments on the suitability of the proposal.

Microteaching: This will be assessed according to the attached criteria, and will be graded as Satisfactory or Unsatisfactory. Any student whose first microteaching episode is judged as unsatisfactory will be given a further (one only) opportunity to gain a satisfactory grade.

NOTE: If a student is assessed as unsatisfactory in microteaching s/he will automatically fail Method I overall, and not be permitted to undertake Professional Experience or any further method work in that teaching area until the key concerns have been resolved.

Assessment 2 – Unit Outline

Unit of work: Preliminary Legal Studies Core Parts II and III

Students are to work in groups of 4 – 5 to prepare a unit of work for a Preliminary Legal Studies class. This class is a mixed ability, co-educational group of students in a comprehensive public/private high school. Thirty percent of the students are from a non-English speaking background. There are several Indigenous Australian students in the class and students from the Pacific Islands. A diverse range of religious and cultural groups are represented in this class. A small number of students demonstrate challenging behaviours.

Students will choose either the 'Resolving disputes' or 'The individual and technology' unit and prepare a 10 hour sequence of lessons for this unit, integrating aspects of the Core Part III: Law in practice unit. This unit should be completely programmed, including identification of relevant outcomes, links to themes and challenges and identification of formative and summative assessment strategies. A range of teaching and learning strategies, consistent with meeting the needs of the learners identified in the context statement, is expected.

The unit outline should be organised as follows:

1. Clearly identified links to the syllabus and syllabus outcomes and an identification of which outcomes will be assessed in the unit.
2. A lesson sequence with the key concepts to be taught identified.
3. A teaching and learning sequence which identifies key concepts, links to syllabus (students learn about, students learn to), teaching strategies and formative and summative assessment strategies for each lesson.

You must include for each lesson:

- a) What you want the students to learn by the end of each lesson, and why this learning is important, written in your own words (this is the key concept);
- b) Teaching and learning strategies;
- c) Any worksheets or material you would give to students; and
- d) A list of resources.

In these detailed lessons, you are expected to design:

- Lesson plans that thoroughly detail all stages of the lesson (2 pages each)
- Lessons which are clearly linked together and are designed to develop knowledge, skills and understanding
- Lessons which are presented in the correct format and expressed in clear, accessible, standard English
- Teaching and learning strategies which use a wide range of ICT and differentiated learning approaches
- Activities which are interesting and engaging for students
- Effective teaching and learning strategies for meeting the needs of Aboriginal, Torres Strait Islanders, English as an additional language and language background other than English students, including literacy and numeracy.

4. A summative assessment task which:

- a) Reflects Bloom's Taxonomy, which means choosing command terms which allow all students to access the task and then using a hierarchy of command terms as means of differentiating the quality of answers produced by the students; and
- b) Contains an accompanying marking scheme which reflects the outcomes to be assessed.

Groups of students will be assessed on their ability to:

- Make appropriate links between outcomes, content, assessment and teaching and learning strategies in the unit outline.
- Include a range of interesting and engaging learning strategies.
- Choose appropriate resources for the class.
- Use material and ideas presented in Legal Studies Method lectures.
- Create a meaningful summative assessment task.

In addition, each student will submit an individual, academically referenced rationale for the unit which integrates theory and practice to:

- a) Detail the prior knowledge, skills and understanding students must have to begin this unit;
- b) State the learning outcomes for students ie what concepts students will learn and why these are important;
- c) Justify the choice of teaching and learning strategies for this class; and
- d) Critically reflect on what could go wrong with this unit of work.

The rationale should be about 1000 words in length.

Individual students will be assessed on their ability to:

- Make appropriate links between outcomes, content, assessment and teaching and learning strategies.
- Use material and ideas presented in Legal Studies Method lectures.
- Write a clear, logically argued rationale.
- Demonstrate an understanding of material and ideas presented in Legal Studies Method lectures, the Combined Methods Lectures and the Professional Experience lectures.

All members of the group will receive the same mark for the group section of the task. Each student will receive an individual mark for the rationale.
