Educational Leadership Workshop
Leadership Processes for Improved Student Outcomes
Accredited at Lead Teacher Level*

In this workshop you will learn about the three leadership capabilities that are central to your work as a leader of the improvement of teaching and learning. You will then have an opportunity for structured reflection on your own capabilities in fostering improvement in your context. Practical activities will enable you to evaluate your current approach and experiment with alternatives.

Distinguished Professor Vivane Robinson, Faculty of Education, The University of Auckland

Viviane is a Distinguished Professor in the Faculty of Education at the University of Auckland and Academic Director of its Centre for Educational Leadership, which has delivered the national induction programme for new school leaders for the last 10 years. In her latest book entitled “Student-Centred Leadership” she presents a compelling account of how school leaders can make a bigger difference to student outcomes and the knowledge and skills they need to do so.

She currently leads a research programme on the development of the leadership knowledge and skills involved in school improvement.
